

AMENDMENTS TO THE SPECIFICATION

In the Office Action, the Examiner objected to the specification because of a typographical error in the Field of the Invention. Applicant hereby amends the specification to address the Examiner's comments.

In the Specification

Upon entry of this amendment, the following paragraphs in the specification section will replace all prior versions in the pending application.

Please replace paragraph [0001] from the previous version of the application with new paragraph [0001] below. No new matter has been added.

Paragraph [0001] marked to show changes relative to previous version:

The invention relates to managing execution of software applications by computers and, in particular, to methods and apparatus for reducing compatibility and sociability problems between different application programs and facilitating the association of multiple applications with particular file types.

Paragraph [0001] clean copy:

The invention relates to managing execution of software applications by computers and, in particular, to methods and apparatus for reducing compatibility and sociability problems between different application programs and facilitating the association of multiple applications with particular file types.